Lande presents renewed Rondo Uno at Design District 2018

Schijndel, June 2018 - Lande presents the new Rondo Uno at Design District 2018 in Rotterdam. The new modular Rondo Uno can now be expanded into a combination of two or more linked Rondo Uno's. From 6 to 8 June at Design District in the Tearoom, on the roof of the Van Nelle Fabriek, the new modular Rondo Uno will be unveiled.

Modular Rondo Uno's

To offer even more possibilities if you want to work or consult undisturbed, Lande has renewed the Rondo family. Thanks to this innovation, the Rondo is now easy to adapt or expand. For example, the modular Rondo Uno can now be expanded into a combination of two or more linked Uno's. These concentration units have particularly good acoustic properties, are comfortable, flexible and lightweight.

In an open office you can work with the Rondo Uno concentration workplace without being distracted. The renewed Rondo Uno can be equipped with electrification and is available with a matching stool.

Rondo family

The Rondo Uno is part of the Rondo family. The Rondo Quatro, Rondo Duo and Rondo Longo have also been updated. The entire Rondo family can now easily be adapted and expanded. The entire renewed modular Rondo family, including new members, will be presented later this year.

Michiel van der Kley

Rondo is designed by Michiel van der Kley. It was when Michiel van der Kley (1962) became acquainted with the design of the nineteen-twenties (Bauhaus, Mackintosh) during his study of history that he decided to become a designer himself. He has been working for manufacturers at home and abroad since 1987, including Artifort. Van der Kley produces designs with a great eye for detail, from which he believes that the object derives its individuality.
